Value without the bottle stack

One personalised pouch can simplify the routine: one matched formula, one daily habit, less guesswork.

Why pouch-first can feel simpler

GO keeps up to 23 vitamins and minerals in one personalised granule formula — from £103.09/month for a 30-day supply.

Matched to you

The Wellness Assessment guides the formula instead of asking you to guess which bottles to stack.

One daily rhythm

Two 4 ml scoops deliver your personalised granules in a quick pouch-first routine.

Easy to adjust

Pause or cancel from your account when life changes — no hard sell and no pressure.

Convenience matters too

Buying separately can mean multiple bottles, different refill dates, and guesswork on stacking. Bioniq GO keeps the focus on one matched formula and a routine you can actually maintain.

The takeaways

01

Personalised

Your assessment helps determine the formula — it is not a generic shelf multivitamin.

02

Pouch-first

Your core 30-day supply stays simple to store, measure and take.

03

Your choice

Travel jars and subscription controls are optional extras, not obligations.

Built around your real routine

Keep the pouch as the core. Add travel jars only when they solve a real need, and use your account controls when your plans change.

A calmer way to cover the basics — matched to you, pouch-first.

How GO compares on cost

Illustrative monthly costs vs popular non-personalised options.
Personalisation is the difference.

	Product	Approx monthly	Personalised?
	AG1	£79 / month	No
	IM8	£89–£112 / month	No
	Pure Encapsulations	£75–£110 / month	No
	Bioniq GO	from £103.09 / month	Yes

What this table is (and isn't)

Competitor prices are approximate public retail ranges for education — not a claim that formulas are equivalent. AG1, IM8 and Pure Encapsulations stacks are not personalised the way Bioniq GO is. GO is shown as from £103.09/month for a personalised 30-day supply (matching the Personalised Supplementation Guide). Dated illustrative snapshot for this guide (2026). FAQ — diet & GLP-1 journeys

Claim-safe nutrition context only. Food supplement — not a medicine, not a weight-loss claim.

Diet

Is Bioniq GO suitable when following a calorie-restricted diet?

When overall food intake decreases, you may get fewer essential vitamins and minerals from meals alone. Maintaining adequate micronutrient intake still matters. Bioniq GO provides a blend of vitamins and minerals designed to complement your daily diet and help support nutritional intake during a weight-focused journey.

GLP-1

Is Bioniq GO suitable alongside incretin-based therapies (e.g. GLP-1 or dual GIP/GLP-1 receptor agonists)?

If appetite is reduced and you eat less, intake of essential nutrients may also fall. Maintaining adequate micronutrient intake remains important. Bioniq GO provides vitamins and minerals designed to complement your daily diet and support overall nutritional intake. This is food-supplement education only — not medical advice, not a medicine, and not a claim about weight-loss outcomes. As with any food supplement, check suitability for your situation before use.

Food supplements should not replace a varied and balanced diet and a healthy lifestyle.
